TONY E. BELL and BELL AND COMPANY MANAGMEENT and ANALYTICAL SERVICES LLC,

Plaintiffs,

v.

SCF INFESTMENT ADVISORS, INC., et al.,

Defendants.

No. 2:24-cv-02473 KJM AC PS

ORDER and

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Plaintiff is proceeding in this action pro se. This matter was accordingly referred to the undersigned by E.D. Cal. 302(c)(21). Plaintiff Tony E. Bell has filed a request for leave to proceed in forma pauperis (“IFP”) and has submitted the affidavit required by that statute. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(1). The motion to proceed IFP (ECF No. 2) will therefore be granted.

I. Screening

A. Legal Standard

The federal IFP statute requires federal courts to dismiss a case if the action is legally “frivolous or malicious,” fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted or seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2). A claim is legally frivolous when it lacks an arguable basis either in law or in fact. Neitzke v.

1 Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 325 (1989). In reviewing a complaint under this standard, the court will 2 (1) accept as true all of the factual allegations contained in the complaint, unless they are clearly 3 baseless or fanciful, (2) construe those allegations in the light most favorable to the plaintiff, and 4 (3) resolve all doubts in the plaintiff's favor. See Neitzke, 490 U.S. at 327; Von Saher v. Norton
 5 Simon Museum of Art at Pasadena, 592 F.3d 954, 960 (9th Cir. 2010), cert. denied, 564 U.S.
 6 1037 (2011).

7 The court applies the same rules of construction in determining whether the complaint
 8 states a claim on which relief can be granted. Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007) (court 9 must accept the allegations as true); Scheuer v. Rhodes, 416 U.S. 232, 236 (1974) (court must 10 construe the complaint in the light most favorable to the plaintiff). Pro se pleadings are held to a 11 less stringent standard than those drafted by lawyers. Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520
 12 (1972). However, the court need not accept as true conclusory allegations, unreasonable
 13 inferences, or unwarranted deductions of fact. Western Mining Council v. Watt, 643 F.2d 618, 14 624 (9th Cir. 1981). A formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action does not suffice
 15 to state a claim. Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555-57 (2007); Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 16 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009).

17 To state a claim on which relief may be granted, the plaintiff must allege enough facts “to 18 state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570. “A claim has 19 facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the 20 reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 21 678. A pro se litigant is entitled to notice of the deficiencies in the complaint and an opportunity 22 to amend, unless the complaint's deficiencies could not be cured by amendment. See Noll v.
 23 Carlson, 809 F.2d 1446, 1448 (9th Cir. 1987), superseded on other grounds by statute as stated in 24 Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122 (9th Cir.2000)) (en banc).

25 B. The Complaint

26 Plaintiff brings this case on behalf of himself and his sole proprietorship, Bell and Co.
 27 Private Wealth Management. ECF No. 1 at 1. Plaintiff alleges that on February 11, 2022, he was 28 “terminated as an independent contractor of FINRA registered firm SCF Securities, Inc. and

1 affiliate company SCF Investment advisors, Inc., an SEC registered investment advisor.” ECF
 2 No. 1 at 1-2. Plaintiff alleges “the actions of termination were premeditated and were in nature
 3 politically motivated and subsequently discriminative; breached trust; utilized privy 4 correspondence and disclosed material important non-public information pertaining to parental 5 custody disputes” including business plans and intellectual property. Id. at 1-2. The complaint,
 6 which is somewhat difficult to decipher, goes on to reference business relationships and a family
 7 law case. Id. at 2-6. Plaintiff seeks compensatory damages for lost wages and opportunity, and 8 damage to his professional and personal reputation; he also seeks punitive damages for emotional 9 impacts, psychological effects, and “familial impact and degrade.” Id. at 6. Plaintiff does not 10 identify any specific legal causes of action.

11 The complaint’s only express reference to jurisdiction is the following statement:
 12 “Returning to the ex-relation basis of Jurisdiction, it is the request of this petition that asks the 13 Courts order to address the personal property with as effects of collusion was taken and damaged,
 14 and if the Courts order does so indeed make mandatory per diem request, as and in consideration, 15 it is not my intention to include these named parties in any further judicial action.” Id. at 6.
 16 Plaintiff states that he does not have a permanent residence, but he did purchase a multifamily
 17 residence in Sacramento, California, and his company is located in California. Id. at 3. Plaintiff 18 notes that he originally attempted to bring this case in the United States District Court for the 19 District of Columbia. ECF No. 1 at 3.

20 C. Analysis

21 This complaint must be dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. “Federal courts 22 are courts of limited jurisdiction.” Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 511 U.S. 375, 23 377, (1994). In 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1332(a), “Congress granted federal courts jurisdiction 24 over two general types of cases: cases that “aris[e] under” federal law, § 1331, and cases in which 25 the amount in controversy exceeds $ 75,000 and there is diversity of citizenship among the 26 parties, § 1332(a). These jurisdictional grants are known as “federal-question jurisdiction” and 27 “diversity jurisdiction,” respectively. Home Depot U. S. A., Inc. v. Jackson, 139 S. Ct. 1743, 28 1746 (2019). A case “arises under” federal law for jurisdictional purposes either where federal

1 law creates the cause of action or “where the vindication of a right under state law necessarily 2 turn[s] on some construction of federal law.” Republican Party of Guam v. Gutierrez, 277 F.3d
3 1086, 1088–89 (9th Cir. 2002) (quoting Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation 4 Trust, 463 U.S. 1, 8–9 (1983)). “[T]he presence or absence of federal-question jurisdiction is
5 governed by the ‘well-pleaded complaint rule,’ which provides that federal jurisdiction exists 6 only when a federal question is presented on the face of the plaintiff’s properly pleaded 7 complaint.” Id. at 1089 (quoting Rivet v. Regions Bank, 522 U.S. 470, 475 (1998)).

8 Here, plaintiff does not identify any cause of action at all, and therefore no basis for 9 federal question jurisdiction appears on the face of the complaint. Neither does diversity 10 jurisdiction appear to apply. While plaintiff does not allege the citizenship of the defendants, the 11 court notes that plaintiff did attempt to file this case in the U.S. District Court for the District of 12 Columbia against defendants SCF Investment Advisors and SCF Securities. See Bell v. SCF Inv.
13 Advisors, Inc., No. CV 24-0392 (UNA), 2024 WL 1178479, at *1, 2024 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 47766
14 (D.D.C. Mar. 18, 2024), aff’d sub nom. Bell v. SCF Invs. Advisors, Inc., No. 24-7036, 2024 WL
15 3171044 (D.C. Cir. June 26, 2024) (“Bell I”). Plaintiff affirmatively alleges the identity of the 16 actions. ECF No. 1 at 1 (“This case was opened In the United States District Court for the 17 District of Columbia.”) In Bell I, the district court noted that plaintiff is a resident of Sacramento,
18 California, that the defendants are businesses in San Diego, California, and that the complaint 19 appeared to “arise from a business relationship gone wrong.” Id. The D.C. Court dismissed the 20 case for lack of federal subject matter jurisdiction, explaining that the case did not involve a 21 federal question and, “because all the parties reside or conduct business in California, even 22 though the amount in controversy exceeds the $75,000 threshold, plaintiff fails to demonstrate 23 complete diversity between the parties.” Id.

24 The same is true here. The D.C. case was dismissed not because it was filed in the wrong
25 federal court, but because jurisdiction is unavailable in any federal court. Absent complete 26 diversity of the parties or a federal cause of action, there can be no subject matter jurisdiction.
27 The nature of the underlying dispute, and review of plaintiff’s allegations, indicate that no federal 28 cause of action is available and amendment would therefore be futile. See Klamath-Lake Pharm.

1 Ass'n v. Klamath Med. Serv. Bureau, 701 F.2d 1276, 1293 (9th Cir. 1983) (while leave to amend
2 shall be freely given, the court need not allow futile amendments). Accordingly, the complaint 3 should be dismissed without leave to amend for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

4 II. Additional Motions

5 Plaintiff filed a motion for electronic filing. ECF No. 3. This motion is DENIED as 6 MOOT because the court lacks jurisdiction over this case.

7 III. Pro Se Plaintiff's Summary

8 You are being granted in forma pauperis status and do not have to pay the filing fee.
9 However, the Magistrate Judge is also recommending that the District Judge dismiss this case
10 because there is no jurisdiction in federal court. If you disagree with this recommendation, you 11 may file objections within 21 days.

12 IV. Conclusion

13 The court ORDERS that the motion to proceed IFP (ECF No. 2) is GRANTED and that 14 the motion for electronic filing (ECF No. 3) is DENIED.

15 Further, the undersigned RECOMMENDS that the complaint (ECF No. 1) be 16 DISMISSED without prejudice and the case CLOSED, because the court lacks subject matter 17 jurisdiction.

18 These findings and recommendations are submitted to the United States District Judge
19 assigned to the case, pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). Within twenty-one days 20 after being served with these findings and recommendations, plaintiff may file written objections
21 with the court and serve a copy on all parties. Id.; see also Local Rule 304(b). Such a document
22 should be captioned "Objections to Magistrate Judge's Findings and Recommendations." Failure
23 to file objections within the specified time may waive the right to appeal the District Court's 24 order. Turner v. Duncan, 158 F.3d 449, 455 (9th Cir. 1998); Martinez v. Ylst, 951 F.2d 1153, 25 1156-57 (9th Cir. 1991).
